

Plaintiff moved to Las Vegas, Nevada in 1999, and was unaware of the New York Supreme Court's pronouncement. (Id. at 8.) Plaintiff was subsequently found in default of his child support obligations. Plaintiff has filed this action in the District of Nevada seeking relief from a judgment

"poverty level respondent" to pay child support in the amount of $25 per month from September 16, entered in New York pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 60(b)(4).

1989 to January 1, 1994, were unconstitutional.

A civil action must be brought in: (1) a judicial district in which any defendant resides, if all defendants reside in the same state where the district is located, (2) a judicial district in which a substantial part of the events or omissions giving rise to the claim occurred, or a substantial part of property that is the subject of the action is situated, or (3) a judicial district in which any defendant is subject to personal jurisdiction at the time the action is commenced, if there is no district in which the action may otherwise be brought. 28 U.S.C. § 1391(b).

While a party may file an action for relief from judgment in a court other than the one which rendered the judgment, this court is not the proper court to bring an action under Rule 60(b)(4) because Plaintiff concedes all of the defendants reside in New York and the orders concerning child support issued from New York and pursuant to rulings made in New York.

When venue is improper, the district court where the case is filed "shall dismiss, or if it be in the interest of justice, transfer such case to any district or division in which it could have been brought." 28 U.S.C. § 1406(a).

Venue is not proper in the District of Nevada. As a result, it is recommended that Plaintiff's IFP application be denied without prejudice, and that his complaint be dismissed without prejudice and the action administratively closed so that Plaintiff may proceed with his action, if he desires, in a court that has jurisdiction over the defendants and where venue is proper.

RECOMMENDATION

IT IS HEREBY RECOMMENDED that the District Judge enter an order:

- (1) DENYING Plaintiff's IFP application WITHOUT PREJUDICE; and
- (2) DISMISSING this action WITHOUT PREJUDICE, and administratively closing the case in the District of Nevada.
